

PLEASE do not change the Indiana "do not call" law. I used to get at least 2 calls every day except Sunday, often early Saturday morning when I was trying to sleep or weekday evenings during dinner. Now I do not get ANY and I LOVE IT!! The phone companies and credit card companies were the worst, but I used to get very annoying calls from charities too. Whether I gave them money or not I could count on another call in month asking for more. One night I got three calls from the same charity within minutes. I can only assume their phone system messed up, but that does not happen now. They can still send me mail, which is OK because I have the option of spending my time on it or not. I do not use caller ID and not answer the "unknown" numbers as many people do because my parents have a number that is "unknown".

I ask again - please, please, please, do not make it easier for them to start calling me again. I should have the right to not have to listen to them (they do not take no for an answer and I do not like to be rude and hang up on people, especially when they are just doing their job).

Thank you.
